Otto John, German Turncoat Security Chief, Back In West

BONN, Germany (AP)—Dr. Otto John, the notorious German turncoat security chief, has returned to the West.

The West German government announced today that the debonair "man of a thousand secrets" who deserted to Communist East Germany 16 months ago had surrendered to West German security police.

Security Council Nears Showdown On 18 Nations

'Package' Admittance To U. N. Appears Sure Of Big Power Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Security Council headed toward a showdown vote today on the disputed proposal to admit 18 nations in a group to the U. N. There seemed little hope the plan could escape a big power veto.

With behind-the-scenes efforts to secure East-West agreement on the package proposal apparently exhausted, the 11-nation council was expected to begin balloting before nightfall.

The U. N. Political Committee, meanwhile, brought the Assembly closer to its adjournment goal. It gave a thumping 53-5 endorsement Monday night to a proposal to give President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection plan priority in new disarmament negotiations.

Only Soviets Oppose

Only the Soviet bloc opposed the resolution sponsored by the United States, Britain, France and Canada. But the continuing Soviet opposition emphasized that the long East-West deadlock on disarmament apparently is no nearer a break.

The Russians opposed it on grounds it failed to emphasize arms reduction and prohibition of nuclear weapons.

The resolution calls on the big-power Disarmament subcommittee to continue efforts to agree on a comprehensive disarmament plan in line with the instructions of last year's General Assembly.

Glum delegates saw little chance of similar success for the membership package deal although it already has the approval of 52 Assembly delegations.

Russians Suspicious

The Russians—suspicious the West might tow down some of the five Communist entries when they come before the Assembly for final action—have insisted under threat of using the veto that both the council and Assembly vote on each applicant before the council takes up the next on the list.

In view of Nationalist China's threats to veto Outer Mongolia, the Russians already had warned that they would turn thumbs down on all 13 non-Communist candidates.

Open House Set At County's New Jail

LISBON — Columbiana County residents will get a chance to see the results of their $250,000 investment when open house is held at the new county jail all day Friday and Saturday, Dec. 30 and 31.

Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine, president of the Columbiana County Board of Commissioners, said today the commissioners reached an agreement Monday with the general contractor, W. L. Nellis Construction Co. of East Liverpool, its sub-contractors and architect Robert Beatty of East Liverpool to have the jail completed in time for the open house.

Hunston said the jail furniture, purchased from the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield, is scheduled to arrive Tuesday, Dec. 20. He said wiring, cleaning and painting still must be completed at the jail.

The new jail will be turned over to sheriff Howard J. Clark "the first of the year," Hunston said. It will take the sheriff "about a week or so to get things arranged for moving into the jail," he added.

Dixon-Yates Takes Contract Fight To Court

Government Sued For $3,534,778 For Power Plant Expense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Dixon-Yates power group today sued the government for $3,534,778 for expenses in connection with the now-cancelled contract for a private power plant in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

The suit was filed by the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. in the U. S. Court of Claims.

E. H. Dixon, president of Mississippi Valley Generating, said in a statement:

"We commenced this litigation with every confidence in its result."

Dixon also is president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., which together with the Southern Co. set up Mississippi Valley Generating to build a 107 million dollar generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

The purpose was to supply power to the TVA system to replace power used elsewhere by the Atomic Energy Commission. The controversial contract was cancelled last summer and on Nov. 23 the Atomic Energy Commission announced that it would not pay Mississippi Valley Generating for money already expended.

AEC, on taking this stand, said Adolphe H. Wenzell "while having a conflicting private interest, acted as one of the principal advisers to the government in the negotiation of the contract."

Wenzell, New York investment banker, acted as a budget Bureau Consultant and the Democratic critic of the Dixon-Yates contract contended he played a dual role. His firm, the First Boston Corp.,

Rush Names Beverly Potts As Victim In Lie Detector Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police planned further questioning of Harvey Lee Rush today to see if they can connect his story that he killed a girl in Cleveland in 1951 to the disappearance of 10-year-old Beverly Potts from that city nearly a year later.

Yesterday, during a polygraph (lie detector) test, police said Rush named Beverly Potts as his victim. Detective Sgt. Larry Scarborough said, however, that although the lie detector machine indicated Rush was telling what he believed was the truth, "it could be that Rush does not know the difference between truth and fantasy."

Scarborough said no definite conclusion could be reached because "We do not know how much of the case this man has read, his exact emotional state, nor for how long he has believed he killed the girl."

For example, the officer continued, "The polygraph shows Rush believes he is telling the truth when he says Beverly Potts wore a skirt and glasses, when in fact she was wearing dungarees and did not wear glasses."

Rush, also known as Henry Rushkowsky, was arrested here on a drunk charge and surprised police by saying he wanted to confess to a murder in Cleveland.

Police said he gave them a three page statement saying he met a young girl at a circus in Cleveland, beat her to death beneath a bridge when she cried out and buried her in a shallow grave he dug with his hands.

Beverly Potts has not been seen by her family since she went to a carnival in an amusement park on Cleveland's West Side.

Annexation Of Land To Salem Approved

Columbiana County Commissioners Monday afternoon approved a petition of Perry Twp. property owners in the Jones addition and Highland Park to annex their land to the city of Salem.

Salem City Council must now approve the annexation request before the land can be added.

The land involved in the annexation request is located in parts of section one and two of Perry Twp. It lies between Newgarden Ave. and the Georgetown Rd.

Galen Greenisen, County Commissioner, said earlier that the area has at least a $250,000 real estate valuation. About 60 families reside in the area, he said.

The petition, filed by Russell C. Jones of 1090 Jones Drive, acting as agent for the petitioners, was signed by 68 persons. It was filed with the commissioners Oct. 3. The commissioners took the petition under advisement after a public hearing Dec. 2.

Only four persons, farmers owning about 50 acres of land in the southern end of the proposed area to be annexed, raised objections. The other property owners, however, agreed to exclude the farmers' properties from the petition.

E. Liverpool Man Seeks State Senatorial Post

Paul V. Baxter of East Liverpool, former councilman, announced today he will seek the Republican nomination for state senator of the 20th-22nd district at the May primary.

Baxter has operated the Baxter Neon Sign Co. in East Liverpool for 25 years. He has served four terms on East Liverpool's city council, leaving office in 1947. The incumbent is Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry, a Democrat.

The senatorial district includes Columbiana, Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont Counties.

Foster Youth Yule Fund Totals $1,939

A total of $1,939.36, still $60.64 short of the $2,000 goal, has been collected to date in the drive to purchase Christmas gifts for Columbiana County's 200 children in foster homes, Miss Virginia Parz of Lisbon, drive chairman, said today.

Miss Parz said two more schools have donated to the drive. They are Rogers, $5, and Wayne, $4.30.

In addition, New Waterford school added $2.35 to hike its total gift to $39.78, Lisbon's Lincoln School sent in $2.40 more to boost its gift total to $39.27 and Elkton School donated $2.10 more, bringing its total to $17.10.

Miss Parz said Lisbon women will wrap the gifts today, East Liverpool and Salem women Thursday and those from Columbiana on Friday.

GI Turncoat Leaves China, Heads for U. S.

Says He Believes Red Charges Yanks Used Germ War In Korea

HONG KONG (AP)—Richard Roger Tenneson, 22, turncoat GI former war prisoner, arrived here today from Red China. He said he was neither for nor against communism but that he believed the Red charges that the United States used germ warfare in Korea.

Tenneson, who comes from Alden, Minn., was among 21 Americans who refused repatriation after the Korean War. In September he said he wanted to go home, and the Communists gave him permission to leave.

American consular officials who met him at the border drove him to Kowloon, this British crown colony's mainland city opposite Hong Kong Island. He held a news conference in a hotel room provided by the Red Cross.

Tenneson was quite nervous as he spoke, talking rapidly in a high-pitched voice and gesturing constantly. He said he had been permitted to read both American and Chinese newspapers and concluded conditions in the United States were "favorable" for his return.

"I know definitely about communism today, more than in 1951," he said. "I am not fighting for communism, nor am I against it."

He said he believed the Chinese charges that the Americans had waged germ warfare in Korea because of the "evidence" the Communists had assembled. He declared, then "things that have been collected could not have been collected. There are all kinds of evidence apart from statements—"

Farm Leader Calls For Soil Bank, Flexible Support Tieup

CHICAGO (AP)—The head of the nation's largest farm organization today called for a soil bank plan that would be part of the flexible farm price support program.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, made the suggestion at the federation's annual meeting.

The "soil bank" idea has been posed as a means to help solve the present problem of increasing surpluses and declining prices of farm products.

The "bank" device would take a number of acres out of production for the market and put them into soil building crops.

The "banked" acres — those taken out of crop production — would be rented by the government. One feature considered at the meeting would be to make the rental payments in surplus commodities instead of cash.

Shuman, in a prepared speech, said the "soil bank" plan could make the surplus situation worse "if it merely proves to be a means of pumping more federal money into our agricultural plant."

He added:

"Neither this nor any other acreage adjustment plan can be effective in shrinking our over-expanded agricultural plant unless it is accompanied by a gradual adjustment in price support from a price-fixing device to a price-supporting mechanism."

"The soil bank program should be a part of the flexible price support program rather than a substitute for it."

Delegates representing 1,623,222 farm families are expected to reaffirm the federation's endorsement of the flexible farm price support system. They also are expected to act on a "soil bank" proposal at a resolutions session Thursday.

The flexible price support program, backed by the Eisenhower administration, went into effect with this year's crops. Under the

Liverpool Man Runs Wife's Car Off Road

LISBON — An East Liverpool woman filed a reckless operation charge against her husband in the village police station this morning at 2:15 after she told police her husband's auto ran her car off the road on Route 45, just south of Salem.

The woman is Mrs. Florene Hall. Her husband is Paul O. Hall of the YMCA in Canton. Police say witnesses in Mrs. Hall's car, including her brother-in-law, William Hall, upheld the woman's charge.

Village police radioed ahead to East Liverpool police to halt Hall's car. East Liverpool patrolman R. L. Hanna stopped Hall in Calculata this morning at 3:45 a.m. after shooting out two of his tires, Lisbon police said.

Hall pleaded guilty this morning in East Liverpool municipal court to charges of driving after his operator's license had been revoked, reckless operation and resisting arrest. He was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail on the first charge but Judge George Brokaw deferred sentencing on the other two.

Lisbon police said occupants of Mrs. Hall's car included her seven-month-old baby. A window in the woman's car was broken when the auto ran off the road, Lisbon police said.

County Salk Vaccine Program Moves Along

A total of 1,738 second and third graders, 81.3 per cent of the eligible children in the Columbiana County general health district, have received their second Salk polio vaccine inoculation this fall, the county health department reported today.

Thirty-three children who were absent from school during the scheduled inoculation program in the county's rural schools were given the shots last week. Eight other absentees still must be inoculated.

Ohio Edison Maps Stratton Power Plant

Walter H. Sammis, president of Ohio Edison Co., announced today that the utility would construct a new power plant, with initially installed generating capacity of 340,000 kilowatts, at Stratton at a cost of $62,000,000.

Two steam-electric generating units, each capable of carrying 170,000 kilowatts of system load, are to be installed in the new plant. They will be the largest generators on the Edison system.

The new power plant will be built on a site, which the company acquired several years ago, extending along the north bank of the Ohio River for more than a mile just outside of Stratton.

Construction work will begin next summer and the first generator will go into operation in 1959. Business growth indicates the new capacity will be needed by that time, Mr. Sammis said. The second unit will probably go into service in 1960.

Power from the new plant will be poured into Ohio Edison's interconnected transmission system which serves a large section of Ohio, including the cities of Salem, Alliance, Elyria, Lorain, Mansfield, Akron, Marion, Massillon, Sandusky, Springfield, Warren and Youngtown.

In an agreement with the Army Corps of Engineers preliminary work at the Stratton site was begun earlier this year in connection with the construction of the New Cumberland locks and dam project.

$100,000 Fire Destroys Firm In Norwalk, O.

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—A $100,000 fire destroyed the John Suhr Insulation Co. near downtown Norwalk in the 12-degree temperature early today.

Fire Chief William Lohman, who estimated the loss, said flames were shooting through the roof of the building when firemen arrived about 3:30 a.m. The alarm had been turned in by a passing truck driver.

The 80 by 60 foot wood frame building and its contents, including four trucks, a motorcycle, lumber, paint, oil and turpentine, were destroyed.

The building also contained the offices and milling department of the firm, which started in the housing insulation business and expanded into the construction field.

The building was three blocks from the center of town on Ohio 250.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined, although Lohman said it started over a gas furnace.

13 Truckers Fined On Overload Charges

Thirteen out-of-town truck drivers were fined or forfeited a total of $398 in Mayor Dean Cranmer's court on overload charges yesterday and this morning after being arrested by state highway patrolmen at the city scales.

Fined $25 and costs were:

Andrew G. Slay, 28, of West Farmington; James D. Campbell, 48, of Cleveland; Norman Cunningham, 30, of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Charles F. Slaggy, 40, of Alliance; Perry J. Wolfe, 28, of Navarre; Earl F. Miller, 32, of Leavittsburg; and Raymond D. Upson, 31, of Berea.

Garth W. Anderson, 39, of Decatur, Ind., was fined $55 and costs by Mayor Cranmer on a gross overload charge.

Forfeiting appearance bonds were Steve Kozack, 45, of Latrobe, Pa., $47; E. F. Rowen, 49, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., $46; Joseph A. Severs, 37, of Bedford, Pa., $25; Charles Cuel, 39, of Clinton, Ind., $25; and Carl K. Parsons, 37, of Rochester, Pa., $25.

Special Council Session Is Scheduled Tonight

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer has requested a special meeting of Council tonight at 7:30 to pass a number of ordinances, including year-end fund transfer measures and the two ordinances covering pay boosts for city employees and elective officials.

A committee-of-the-whole meeting had been set for tonight, but the mayor said he had asked for the special meeting instead so that final action could be taken on the measures.

According to a law passed at the last session of the Ohio State Legislature, Mayor Cranmer said, legislation cannot be enacted at closed meetings of municipal councils. Passage of the measures is necessary at this time, the mayor said, to prevent work from piling up on the council clerk, auditor and other officials at the end of the year.

Salem City To Get $52,900, Clinic $31,600

Ford Foundation Gives Half Billion To U. S. Colleges, Hospitals

Both Salem City Hospital and the Central Clinic Hospital here will share in the half billion dollar Ford Foundation gift distribution to the nation's privately supported colleges, universities and hospitals which was announced late yesterday.

City Hospital's gift was announced as $52,900 and the Clinic's $31,600 according to a Ford Foundation statement.

C. J. Mosher, City Hospital administrator, expressed appreciative surprise at the gift and said "It gives us impetus to accelerate our plans for the hospital expansion program we already have charted. This money will be of considerable assistance in our present planning and will reduce contemplated borrowing for expansion purposes."

"However, we expect to maintain our 'Keep-Up-To-Date' hospital program fund appeal at its present

Mt. Union, Youngstown Get Educational Funds

District educational institutions sharing in the Ford Foundation grants include Mount Union College at Alliance and Youngstown University.

The approximate grant to Mount Union is $180,600 and for Youngstown University $348,700.

Among the hospitals in the adjacent area Alliance City will get $60,900; East Liverpool $73,800; Youngstown Hospital $250,000; Youngstown St. Elizabeth, $190,000.

rate so that we can have a fully adequate service to the community. The Ford Foundation gift may help us reach our goal at an earlier date."

Atty. South Metzger, City Hospital Association board chairman, echoed Mr. Mosher's comments, saying, "the gift fits admirably into our current plans."

City Hospital will open bids on Jan. 10 for a $250,000 hospital plant improvement program.

Albert Hanna, Central Clinic Hospital superintendent, also cheered by the Ford Foundation gift, said that the Clinic board would apply the contribution against its capital indebtedness incurred on expansion.

"I think it is wonderful to receive this amount of money while we are in the midst of our fund-raising campaign and we are encouraged as to future expansion possibilities."

The Central Clinic recently held a public open house of its enlarged and improved hospital facilities. Nation-Wide Distribution

The huge Ford gift was divided as follows in the nation:

To 615 regionally accredited, private colleges and universities, primarily to help raise teachers' pay — 210 million dollars;

To 3,500 privately supported hospitals located in all 48 states, plus Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico — 200 million dollars.

To privately supported medical schools — 90 million dollars.

The grant to colleges and universities is in addition to 50 million dollars which the foundation announced last spring it would distribute to help raise teaching salaries.

Thirty-six colleges and universities received more than one million dollars each. The largest gift — five million — went to New York University.

Other top gifts went to Harvard — $4,510,000; University of Chicago — $4,324,200; and Yale — $4,000,000.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Christmas season is really here. Municipal Judges Forrest J. Cavalier, Robert D. Nevin and Frank R. Franko made the following appeal to lawyers in an advertisement published Monday in the Legal News:

Seiberling Stock Sold To Lamb

Industrialist Buys Up 100,000 Shares

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Industrialist Edward Lamb has announced the acquisition of more than 100,000 of the 392,000 shares of the Seiberling Rubber Co.'s common stock, giving him the largest single holding in the company.

The stock was purchased by Lamb and his associates "for investment purposes," it was announced yesterday by Frank C. Oswald, vice president of Edward Lamb Enterprises, Inc.

Lamb is publisher of the Erie Dispatch and owner of radio and television stations in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Florida.

Oswald said: "We believe that the Seiberling Rubber Co. is in a growth situation which affords a great opportunity for further expansion and development."

No Dividends Paid

The rubber company, which had 1954 gross sales of $35,714,299, has not paid common dividends this year, but President J. O. Seiberling said recently that dividend action might be considered at a directors' meeting Dec. 22. The firm's net earnings were two cents a common share last year, when current assets at year-end were $14,831,621. Oswald's announcement suggested that Lamb was not seeking control of the company. The next stockholders meeting is set for April 23.

Exact Holdings Unknown

"For some time we have known of Mr. Lamb's interest in our company's stock but we do not know the exact extent of his holdings. "We are pleased by Mr. Lamb's confidence in Seiberling and that he agrees with our present program of diversification and expansion which we have outlined to shareholders several times in the past."

There are about 4,500 Seiberling stockholders, with 15,000 shares the largest holding by a non-director before Lamb's purchases. Seiberling directors own some 20,000 shares, 17,000 of them held by the four Seiberling brothers.

Liberace's Yule Spirit Brings Traffic Jams

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP)—The honorary mayor of Sherman Oaks is causing some of the worst traffic jams ever in this San Fernando Valley community.

The mayor is pianist Liberace, who went all out in decorating his $100,000 home for the Christmas season. The result is a steady stream of automobiles that has brought traffic police out the past two nights.

Personal appearances by the smiling pianist to greet some of the onlookers isn't helping to slow down things any.

Atop the modernistic showplace is a bamboo Santa Claus playing a baby grand piano. On the piano is the inevitable candelabra. Nearby is a bamboo-silhouetted reindeer and sleigh.

The whole creation, in modern design, was the brain child of Liberace.

From the piano comes high fidelity recordings of Liberace's Christmas album entitled "Christmas at the Liberaces."

Monday night when children were among the viewers, Liberace signed autographs for them, told them to wait and brought them candy from the house.

"I just love Christmas," he said.

Burial In The Sky

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Year after year Hugo Gernsback probably puts out the most unusual Christmas cards in America.

Each year, they contain predictions by Gernsback, publisher of the magazine "Radio-Electronics," on how life will be lived in the future.

Some years his forecasts are pretty eerie. This year they are weirder than weird. If Gernsback is even half-right, the average man will probably be glad he lives in the present—and that the next century will be up to posterity to endure.

Take the matter of transportation. Glancing into his crystal ball, Dr. Gernsback sees the "airmobile" as the only final answer to today's traffic problem.

Motorists will zoom through the skies in small gravity-resistant cars propelled by compressed air.

Like most people he has pondered the mystery of sex, and has decided, "sex is a complex electrical phenomenon." Well, it certainly is complex, sometimes it does produce sparks and there is no doubt it is quite a phenomenon.

Gernsback feels that as science learns more about sex it will produce the "electromicro-perceptor," or sex measurer. By undergoing tests with this machine couples will supposedly be able to determine whether they will be compatible in marriage, at least in terms of physical responses.

It may well be that Gernsback is right about the bright future of the airmobile, space burials, and the electronicized brain. But will any man in his right mind ever come home to a wife who keeps an "electromicro-perceptor" in the house? I doubt it.

Westinghouse said it offered the reward because the "damage was done to an automobile belonging to one of our employees."

"Since the very beginning of this strike (last Oct. 17), we have decreased violence of any kind," the company said.

The bombing was one of several incidents reported since a back-to-work movement started here Nov. 28. Several other plants have had similar movements.

The Westinghouse plant here is one of 30 across the nation involved in the walkout of 4,000 employees. The Columbus plant normally employs 4,388.

The IUE and the independent United Electrical Workers are asking a 15-cent hourly increase and a one-year contract. Westinghouse has offered increases totaling 23 1/2 cents over a five-year period and a contract that same length of time.

"All-around radar will make collisions in the air almost an impossibility," he adds.

Are you worried about where you will be buried? Gernsback is. He fears the earth soon will be too crowded for cemeteries.

But he has an answer — space burials.

Coffins containing the dead will be taken up into outer space by flying funeral ships. At the proper altitude the ships will discharge their cargo in a direction away from the sun. Frozen snug in your casket, you will then soar out of the pattern of the solar system—and sail on forever in space.

Gernsback sees this as the most practical way a man can "go to Heaven." Anybody want to be first?

But to the ordinary mortal the top innovation envisioned by Gernsback is the "electromicro-perceptor."

Like most people he has pondered the mystery of sex, and has decided, "sex is a complex electrical phenomenon." Well, it certainly is complex, sometimes it does produce sparks and there is no doubt it is quite a phenomenon.

Experts Ask Revision Of Ohio Elementary School Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's official elementary school standards, unrevised since 1949, should be brought up to date by the new state board of education, experts in the field said today.

The proposal came at the concluding session of the Ohio Education Assn.'s annual meeting. It was included in the report of the OEA Commission on Improvement of Education in Ohio.

The report urges that Ohio adopt a plan, similar to those in effect in several other states, requiring the staff of each elementary school to periodically self-evaluate the school program, using the new standards as a yardstick.

School Supt. J. H. Wanamaker of Conneaut, commission chairman, said Ohio's high schools are required to measure up to standards through inspections and charting by the state department of education. But those requirements are not in effect on the elementary level, he said.

Ohio has 3,000 elementary schools and more than 1,000 high schools, Wanamaker said. A large state inspection force would be needed if elementary standards were to be enforced by the chartering method used in high schools, he added.

Self-evaluation reports, the commission found, are effective throughout the nation in helping to improve the educational program. Under the proposal, these reports would be submitted to the state board of education.

Dr. Dwight L. Arnold, Kent State University professor and association president, yesterday called Ohio's financial aid to schools "pathetic." He said Ohio could get a 25 per cent increase in federal school grants if it matched the national average of school aid.

Unless Ohio can find increased state funds for education, "We have no other alternative but to turn increasingly to national resources," Arnold said.

Arnold conceded, however, that the state's education outlook has become a "much more hopeful situation" in the past two years.

Warning To Neutralists

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U. S. Tires Of Trying To Win Friends By "Bribery"

The American people have not yet been given the "facts of international life," particularly in connection with the new formula of "competitive co-existence" which is supposed to describe the battle of the East and West to win "neutralist" countries.

The discussion at present is confined to the inner councils of the administration, but Congress is bound to bring it all out in the open in the coming session.

The point at issue is this: How long can the American taxpayers be expected to spend billions of dollars abroad without getting some direct benefit in the way of national security?

Should the United States, for example, by furnishing economic aid, bid for the friendship of India and other Asian countries or of Egypt in the Middle East?

Is it the duty of the Asian countries themselves to ward off Communism or is it the obligation of the United States to persuade and cajole them with dollars to do what they ought to do anyhow?

Why should it be necessary to bribe nations to be realistic in the face of the record of Communist aggression?

THESE QUESTIONS go to the heart of the controversies that have arisen in Asia and the Middle East where America now is placed in the position of either agreeing to furnish billions of dollars of help or else seeing the various countries allegedly "being pushed into the arms of Moscow."

What is difficult for the average government of India, for instance, has to be urged with dollars to choose the West instead of the East and why Egypt thinks her independence could ever possibly be protected by the Soviet Union.

A policy that is bound to be given consideration is whether it wouldn't be a good idea to let India know that if Nehru and his sinister handymen—Krisna Menon—want to embrace Communist imperialism and allow themselves to become the puppets of Moscow in the international field, the United States may say: "Go ahead, put yourselves under the Communist yoke and when you have experienced its 'joys' long enough and see the dangers to your independence, come back to us—if you can then get disengaged—and we will welcome you as a loyal ally."

INDICATIONS ARE that "neutralist" countries like India, which cannot seem to make up their minds whether they want to tie up with gangster governments or with free governments, will have a hard time getting economic aid from the Congress of the United States.

There is a special award for everything—horse of the year, player of the year, manager of the year, woman of the year, man of the year, and no doubt, rat of the year, toward the end of the list.

The country has gone distinction-happy. It has become compulsory to have all-American everything. This kind of oversimplification clears the decks of all others who had a hand in the performance. Try to remember the names of two other Ohio State football players, besides Hopalong Cassidy.

But the highest award belongs to the great all-American blank—the man in the middle—the one who never gets any distinction at all.

He is the fellow who stood in the third row of the class picture in the third grade, behind the bushy-haired girl in the second row. You can see one side of his face through the hair.

When his class graduated from high school, he had the mumps and didn't appear at all for two weeks. Furthermore, they mislaid his photograph, and he drew a blank in the annual, too.

He is the one who moved away, married someone no one ever heard of and buckled down to a job in an obscure enterprise, where he finally became known as Old Pete—one of the dependables.

That was to be his only distinction in a lifetime of obscurity, unless you include the fact he rarely is sick more than 10 days a year, is a charter member of the Do-It-Yourself movement by necessity, mows his lawn twice a week in season, washes and polishes his own car during the warm months and paid off his house mortgage 14 months before the end of its term.

States. Democrats as well as Republicans think very much the same about it. The American policy is bound to be selective.

Everybody knows that Israel, on the other hand, is innately imbued with Western ideals. There is naturally a strong pro-American sentiment in Israel and a strong pro-Israel sentiment in the United States just as there have always been strong ties between Americans of Irish ancestry and Ireland.

The first allegiance of the American Jews is to the United States, but it is natural for many of them for sentimental reasons along with many non-Jews to be deeply sympathetic with the efforts of the infant republic of Israel to preserve her independence in the troubled Middle East.

THE PRINCIPLE involved is not a "Jewish question." In fact, in recent months it has become an American defense question due to Egypt's peculiar behavior.

It looks now as if it will be to the best interests of the United States government to play ball with Israel and, if necessary, to furnish military aid as in the case of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Greece. For Israel, unlike Egypt, has not tried to play the Western Alliance off against the Kremlin in a sort of bidding match.

The policy of standing by America's friends and allies is well illustrated in the statement made by Secretary Dulles about "Portuguese provinces" which has been criticized by some Democratic politicians as indiscreet. But Dulles in his implicit opposition to aggression either with respect to Goa, the Portuguese colony on the west coast of India, or Macao, which is off the coast of Red China, was rightly positive and not indiscreet at all.

HE MIGHT WELL have gone further and bluntly reminded the Indian government that Portugal is our ally, and holds the Azores—a very vital base for our Air Force and our Navy in the Atlantic Ocean.

It is a thousand times more necessary to stand by a long time friend like Portugal than to worry about hurt feelings to the steady trade of insults against the United States during the last few years has not gone unnoticed in this country.

Not only is America unable to afford large expenditures of taxpayers' money to "buy" allies in Asia where hundreds of millions of people still live under primitive conditions—but Russia cannot really do it either.

It may be better policy, moreover, to let Russia try to take on the job. The larger the external burdens, Moscow undertakes the heavy drains on capital goods, the greater the internal pressures.

Likewise, the longer the needed consumer goods are withheld from the Russian people the sooner will come the day of the crack-up of the Kremlin.

Outer Mongolia, A Russian Satellite

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The proposal to include Mongolia in the membership of the United Nations is a dishonest trick, designed to bring Red China into that body by a no other name. Outer Mongolia is by all the rules of international law a province of Red China.

It has never been recognized as a sovereign state except by Red China and the Soviet universal state.

The Mongols under Genghis Khan and his descendants in the 12th century conquered both Russia and China, as well as India.

The Mongols were better conquerors than administrators; they lacked a sense of nationality; they were not race conscious nor did they have religious prejudices. Therefore they were absorbed by those whom they conquered.

LEAVING THEIR lair in the vicinity of Lake Balkal a powerful people, they changed into a soft, effete race in a short time and were overcome in Russia by the Duke of Moscow, in China by the Ming Dynasty and in India by the British. The descendants of the Mongols are everywhere in small pockets under various names.

Mongolia is an undefined territory lying between Siberia and China, sparsely settled, about 1,700,000 square miles in area.

Up to about 1925, these Mongols lived in a pre-Genghis Khan economy and social structure, grazing sheep, horses and cattle. About one quarter of their land is desert, with small rivers that disappear.

SINCE 1925, there has been a degree of industrialization and urbanization. The richest area is in the Altai mountains which is well watered. However, the Gobi Desert alone covers about 200,000 square miles, and no important culture can exist there. The Mongols therefore, have often in their history been forced to push forward for food. Urga is the most important city in the entire region.

Because of geographical propinquity and Russian activity, even under the czars, while all the provinces of Mongolia were part of China, the pull of sentiment was toward Russia.

The Chinese tried to solve this particular problem by sending hordes of Chinese into Mongolia for permanent settlement, as China had done successfully in Manchuria. However, the Mongols resented Chinese occupation, a resentment that was stimulated by the Russians and by Mongols who lived in Siberia, in such cities as Irkutsk, Verkhne-Udinsk, Khabarovsk and Chita.

AFTER THE REVOLUTION of 1911 in China, Russia set up a protectorate of Mongolia, particularly as the Mongol princes contended that they owed no loyalty to the Republic of China, only to the Manchu Emperors who had been dethroned.

Outer Mongolia made itself independent of China but under the protection of Russia; Inner Mongolia consisted of Chinese provinces.

In a series of secret treaties with Japan, beginning in 1912, Mongolia was divided into two spheres of influence, one Russian, the other Japanese. China never recognized these arrangements as valid, but in 1913, China did recognize the autonomy of Outer Mongolia, Czarist Russia recognized China a suzerain. This was confirmed by the Treaty of Kaitaka in 1915.

After the Russian Revolution of 1917, China pushed back into Mongolia, ostensibly to prevent Ataman Semenov from establishing a Pan-Mongolian state with himself at the head of it.

A REVOLUTION occurred in Mongolia in September 1921, and the Peoples Revolutionary Government came into existence as a Russian satellite—the first satellite. They signed a secret treaty which contained this clause: "1. The Russian Soviet and the Revolutionary Mongol government recognize each other as the only governments in the territory of Russia and Mongolia."

This eliminated China completely. However, by the Sino-Soviet Treaty of 1924, Outer Mongolia was recognized nominally as an integral part of China. Nevertheless, the Mongolian Republic became part of the Soviet state and has been such since 1921. The advent of Mao Tse-tung's Red Chinese regime only confirmed the fact that Mongolia is a Russian satellite.

It is obvious that as Red China has not been able to get into the United Nations, the present fight to get Mongolia into it is a Red Chinese trick to get in vicariously. The United States has no reason to consent to such a device, never having recognized Mongolia as a sovereign state.

Ancient Library Reopening

By MICHAEL MANNING

ATHENS One of the most original libraries in the world, containing documents written 2,500 years ago, has been opened in Athens. It is a "library of stone" exhibiting some 6,700 ancient marble inscriptions unearthed in the past 31 years by American archaeologists.

The "documents" were found in the agora, the ancient market place of classical Athens, under the shadow of the Acropolis, the center of Athenian life at the time of the great ancient philosophers.

The library of stone has been housed in an original building: It is the basement of a 2,114-year-old structure, the Stoa of Attalos, now being rebuilt to its ancient design and with the same materials used over 21 centuries ago.

The 6,700 inscriptions in the library are carefully catalogued and stacked in supermodern "shelves." Here scholars can study them and delve into the intriguing mysteries of the glorious past of Athens.

One of the most important documents kept there was found only three years ago. It is an Athenian law against dictatorship, dating from 336 B.C. and strangely reminiscent of modern laws against dictatorship and sedition.

Directed against any attempt to set up a dictatorship in Athens or to overthrow the democratic government of the city, part of the law states that "anyone killing a person who attempts to do so, is to be counted as a traitor."

The inscription was carefully cut at a convenient height for the reader, on a tall slab of white marble and was protected from the rain by a gabled top.

Above the library, the imposing building known as the Stoa of Attalos is being reconstructed at a cost of 2.1 million dollars to serve as a museum housing 65,000 objects found during the excavations in the agora. Ranging from marble statues to fine vases, these finds cover a period of 50 centuries of history—from Neolithic Athens to almost the present day.

In its heyday the building apparently served a variety of purposes. It was a kind of ancient Athenian parade, with a row of 21 fashionable shops on each floor. The broad porches had provided spacious promenades for the citizens to stroll and for the philosophers to meet with their students.

The donor—and it must have cost him a fortune—was King Attalos II of Pergamon, who had studied in Athens as a youth and had presented the great building in gratitude, soon after his accession to his father's throne in 139 B.C.

Today the rhythmic jingle of a hundred chisels chipping the blocks of marble, which must have been so familiar to the ancient Athenians when Pericles was building the Parthenon, resounds in the ancient Agora, as stone-workers, using the same tools and the same marble, carve the columns for the new Stoa.

The first of the new columns has now been fluted, the fluting being done according to the ancient practice: After the erection of the columns.

Another purpose of the reconstruction is already being fulfilled, for even at its present stage, the building illustrates the scheme of an ancient stoa and the spacious grandeur of Hellenistic architecture.

The museum is expected to be ready for dedication in the summer of 1956. Guest of honor at the ceremony: John D. Rockefeller Jr., who contributed one-half of the cost for this project.

Ohio GOP To Pick 'Favorite Son,' Bricker Seen Choice

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican State Committee members met Friday to pick a "favorite son" candidate for President while Democrats continue to mark time. Republicans generally agree that Sen. John W. Bricker will be chosen "favorite son" to hold the Ohio delegation until President Eisenhower reveals his 1956 election plans.

Ohio Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the meeting was called because it now appeared Eisenhower would delay his decision until after the Feb. 8 filing deadline for Ohio candidates to the GOP National Convention.

Because of Ohio's early filing date, the "favorite son" device is used to qualify delegates and alternates to national conventions. Statute requires written permission from a presidential candidate for delegate candidates to run pledged to him. They usually stay with the "favorite son" until released to vote for the actual nominee.

Ohio will have 56 delegates with a vote apiece to the GOP convention in San Francisco Aug. 20. Two delegates will be elected in the May 8 primaries from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts and 10 from the state at-large, the same as in 1952. A like number of alternates will be chosen.

Democrats expect to have 54 Ohio delegates to their national convention in Chicago next year.

The tentative date is Aug. 13. They will elect two delegates and two alternates in each congressional district and 16 at-large. District delegates will have a vote each and at-large delegates a half vote.

A party spokesman said preliminary meetings in a few districts indicated that numerous Democrats are willing to stand the expense of being a delegate if Gov. Frank J. Lausche accepts the "favorite son" role.

The governor, who spurned the role in 1952, has indicated he might go for "favorite son" next year to keep control of the Ohio delegation away from a party faction hostile to him.

But he continues to say nothing definite about his plans, other than that he will run for some office. While Republicans have come up with a slate of candidates for most state offices, Democrat aspirants are reluctant to do much more than take out nominating petitions until they see which way Lausche will jump.

He has indicated he might seek a sixth term or run for U. S. senator. Some friends express belief that as a gubernatorial candidate Lausche would have greater strength at the national convention should a deadlock force delegates to pick a compromise nominee for President.

Meanwhile, Democrats chafe over Lausche's delay. They point out that the longer he holds out, the more difficult it becomes for candidates to obtain required signatures to petitions to qualify for nominations.

But Lausche keeps mum. His stock answer to candidacy questions: "No announcement today."

"No cause for criminal action," Gulotta said after Johnny's parents complained. He cited the law giving a teacher the right to use force when it is "reasonable in manner and moderate in degree."

Canton City Council Approves Pay Hikes

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—City council after approving a five per cent pay boost for most of the city's 900 employees, last night hiked the pay of certain elected, appointed, supervisory and workers' categories by 8 to 29 per cent. The action followed protests from police, fireman and hourly-paid workers who called the original increase "grossly inadequate."

Councilmen raised their own wages from $1,054 to $1,300 a year and increased the salary of Mayor Carl F. Wise by $1,500 to $10,000 a year.

Charged Nazi Rise
After he joined the Communists publicly, John charged that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government was reviving nazism and militarism. He said the "only forum" he could find to combat this trend was in the Communist East.

Before today's sensational announcement, he had been reported living in Potsdam, writing his memoirs and editorials for Communist publications.

John, who is now 46, was known as a personable, talented man who had dealt in intrigue for years. A six-foot blond, he always had a cloak-and-dagger bent.

A boy wonder who had a legal degree, he was named business trustee of Lufthansa, the Nazi government's international airline, in 1936 when he was only 27.

He had mixed with all types of individuals—Princes and revolutionaries, Gestapo brutes and Red stoopidges, austere idealists and libertines. As an airline executive, he was supposed to be well equipped for gathering special information for the Gestapo in his trips abroad.

In his statement today, Dixon said the contract with the government was in full force for more than six months and during that time his company proceeded with the performance "of all our obligations under it." Dixon added:

"The decision of the government to repudiate its contract presumably was based upon legal opinion which rests upon important mistakes of facts and we disagree with its conclusions. We will prosecute our rightful claims with the same vigor which characterized our efforts to fulfill our part of the contract."

Ohioans Buying Home-Grown Yule Trees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More Ohioans are buying home-grown Christmas trees than ever before.

That's the word from Bob Paton of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Christmas Tree Growers Council. Paton said that a few years ago about 200,000 of the two million Christmas trees Ohioans use were home-grown.

Today, he says, a "broad guess" the figure will be between 350,000 to 400,000 before the Yule season is over.

"I can see the time coming when very few trees are shipped into Ohio, although we always will have some," he says.

Most popular Ohio-grown trees are the scotch pine, red pine, white pine—all with long needles—and Norway spruce and Douglas fir, with short needles. Paton says the long-needle varieties hold their needles the best, although the short-needle type is the traditional Christmas tree.

There are about 400 Christmas tree "farmers" in the state, of whom about 200 belong to the council.

Most are part-time growers—farmers with a bit of land not well suited for other crops or businessmen who invest in land good for growing Christmas trees.

Most "imported" Christmas trees come from Michigan and Pennsylvania, while some come from the West Coast and Canada.

The 52 supporters of the package proposal held a giant caucus Monday, reportedly to reassure the Russians their five satellites would pass the Assembly if they won council approval. The delegates met for 90 minutes but reportedly made no progress toward solving the membership impasse.

Exclusion of the United States from the meeting touched off angry protests from Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who labelled it a "star chamber practice" objectionable to the American people. Lodge wasn't invited because he had abstained in the political Committee vote on the package proposal.

900. The smallest college grant was $31,900 for the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

For hospitals, the gifts ranged from $250,000—a sum awarded to 57 institutions—to $10,000.

The 9 million dollars for medical schools has not yet been broken down into specific grants.

The gigantic program was given final approval by the foundation's Board of Trustees, headed by Henry Ford II, at a meeting last week.

Recipients were notified by telegram and a number of institutions across the country at first thought the good news was a hoax.

Action Brings Praise

The foundation was quickly commended by medical and education leaders.

Harvard President Nathan Pusey called the grants a "splendid, imaginative effort to strengthen higher education in America."

The special intent — to improve faculty salaries—is unreservedly praiseworthy.

In Chicago the American Medical Assn. and the American Hospital Assn. issued statements by their presidents describing the grants as "inspiring and heartening" and making possible tremendous improvement in hospital service to our people.

The foundation parceled its funds among colleges roughly in sums equal to their 1954-55 payrolls for instruction in the liberal arts and sciences. At least half of each grant is to be paid next July 1 and the remainder a year later.

The advisory committee which determined the gifts said it did not want to disrupt "the carefully evolved patterns of our system of higher education."

The college grants were given in the form of 10-year endowments, the interest in that period to be used solely for increasing teachers' salaries. After 10 years the college may use the money as it sees fit.

The 50-million-dollar grant of last spring, which was not then distributed, will be allotted to 126 colleges as supplemental grants. The foundation said these will go to institutions that have "led the way in their regions in improving the status and compensation of American college teachers."

For Improvements

The hospital grants are for improvement and expansion of service and not to be used for operating expenses. Final approval of individual hospital grants was held upon pending submission of certain information.

The foundation's total gift was 150 million dollars more than all the money given away in its previous 19 years.

Henry Ford, a pioneering giant of the motor industry, started the foundation in 1936 for "the advancement of human welfare."

At present some three million shares of nonvoting Ford stock make up the foundation's assets. Sixteen years ago this was valued at $135 in share for estate tax purposes, putting the foundation's worth at about half a billion dollars.

However, the foundation recently announced plans to sell a portion of the stock. Financial experts figure the market price to be brought by this stock will boost the foundation's worth to 2½ to 3 billion dollars.

ferent kinds of bombs and so forth."

He added that he expected "some hostility when I arrive home because of my views of American germ warfare."

The United States has repeatedly denied the germ warfare accusations and in turn has charged that the Chinese made fake photographs.

Tennessee terms his stay in China—he worked in a paper factory—"something like attending school and now my decision to return to the United States is something like a postgraduate course."

He said that he originally had planned not to stay in China "for long," and now was going home for "personal reasons and not because of possible repercussions."

"It was not just the homesickness of a young man that made me decide to leave China," he continued. "It was other reasons that helped make up my mind."

He refused to elaborate on these reasons, but said when he asked the Reds for permission to leave, "none of them tried to keep me back; they wanted to get rid of me."

Tennessee also would not go into this except to say he did not get along with the Chinese people as a whole. "There was nothing personal in our relationship," he added.

The plane was a four-engine C-54 of the U. S. Air Force's 1700 Air Transport Group, based at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex. The transport crashed Sunday night in the Gormora district, near the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

Flying from Wheelus Field in Tripoli to Casablanca, it was believed en route to the United States.

Spanish authorities reported the accident to U. S. Air Force officials at Rabat, French Morocco, Monday.

Spanish technicians who examined the wreckage said the plane's altimeter must have been out of order.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There are apple growers, horse breeders, lawyers, farmers and even ministers in Congress—but only one labor leader, Sen. Pat McCarran. And the chiefs of the new AFL-CIO are on their way home from their founding convention here determined to increase this one-man job to several scores.

Victor Riesel

The next big labor push on the political front will be to convince the Democratic party to nominate actual labor leaders for Congress in return for money and manpower support. Labor's political actionists want their own representatives on The Hill, for they say that the U.S. Congress is the only one in the free world which doesn't actually have a big bloc of labor chiefs voting on national laws.

There already are scores of labor mayors, city councilmen and state legislators.

WALTER REUTHER is returning home to look over, among other things piled up on his desk, reports on his technicians' plans for a campaign for a four-day work week in the auto and aircraft industries. This will be launched with the same fanfare with which Reuther unleashed the drive for a Guaranteed Annual Wage.

In the new era the DuPont Corp. will replace General Motors as the number one target for labor's unionizing drive. The sprawling DuPont Corp. has scores of small plants with 2,500 to 3,000 workers, few of whom are in the AFL-CIO. Cracking that independent "citadel" would give the new AFL-CIO campaign a chance to get into the vast, non-union chemical field.

As Reuther sees it, parallel campaigns will dispatch organizing squads into the white collar and government field as well—as the AFL-CIO starts rolling towards a 30 million membership. That's quite a jump from the number the AFL had when John Lewis led the first CIO group out of the federation. The figure then was 3,045,000. Reuther's own Auto Union had only 25,000 when it started—it now has 1,250,000.

THERE WILL BE a terrific step up in labor's propaganda techniques. The AFL-CIO specialists already have new films for color TV broadcasts.

These were produced by professionals in Sam Goldwyn's studios. One picture—aimed at fighting the right to work laws which ban the union shop—is a 50-minute color job. This will be good for TV broadcasts as well as showing in regular movie houses and church and civic group halls.

A second movie has been turned out for 13½-minute TV broadcasts, which will be spotted across the country.

Oddly enough, the official count of unions in the AFL-CIO was given by George Meany in his talk to 3,000 leaders of the National Assn. of Manufacturers. Meany revealed that there are 68,000 local unions, affiliated with 140 national and international unions. Some 44,000 of these locals were in the old AFL—which gives you some idea of the size of organized labor.

THE ONLY TIME Meany drew applause from the NAM delegates, whom he addressed, was when he said that the national leaders of the AFL-CIO have no power "to tell anyone to go on strike."

"I never went on strike in my life," Meany disclosed. "I never ordered anyone on strike. I never had anything to do with a picket line in my life. So if that's the type of man they (AFL-CIO members) don't want, they can get themselves somebody else."

The NAM leaders applauded. Then silence.

THE BIG REPUBLICAN drive on the labor front now will attempt to prevent union leaders from spending the dollars of Republican unionists on Democratic candidates.

This was apparent when Sen.

CAP FOR COLD—The familiar campaign hat of the Pennsylvania State Police has bowed to this black leather and fur cap for the winter. Being modeled here by Sgt. Thomas A. Dougherty of Greensburg, Pa., the cap protects ears, face and neck from the cold weather. The campaign hat was formerly worn on cold and warm days.

Barry Goldwater replied to Adlai Stevenson's speech to the AFL-CIO convention with the following: "Why is Stevenson fearful of facing this basic issue of individual political freedom?"

"I wonder what his answer is to the facts and I refer to facts such as a survey of UAW-CIO membership in the home town of Walter Reuther conducted at Wayne University in Detroit. This survey showed that 71 per cent of the union members who are independent voters, 63 per cent of the union members who are Democrats and 100 per cent of the union members who are Republicans are opposed to any union political action."

Broiler and bruners of a gas range come clean easily if immersed in a pan of hot water to which has been added two tablespoons of sal soda concentrated. Boil for a few minutes.

Winona To Purchase Fire Equipment

WINONA—A meeting of the Winona-Butler Volunteer Fire Department was held at the Jenkins Nursery Building with President Francis Hall in charge.

The report of the committee to solicit funds to buy fire-fighting equipment was satisfactory so Walter Holmes, Clyde Bennett and George Walton were appointed.

Roy E. Ricker, a representative of the Rural Fire Prevention division of state fire marshal, was present and gave an informative talk followed by a question and answer period.

The next meeting is planned for Tuesday, Dec. 27.

Relatives and friends were present when the music pupils of Mrs. Donald Dusenberry gave a recital at the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon.

Those appearing on the program were Jay Stamp, Wanda Phillips, Mary Lou Alexander, Lola Gambel, Gerald Gambel, Lynden Gambel and Nancy Ward.

Guest entertainers included James Stamp, trumpet solo, and Kathie Ward, a piano solo.

There were 100 members and guests served when the Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church Wednesday for their Christmas luncheon.

The guests were members of the Washingtonville and Bunker Hill Societies. President Mrs. Ronald Hoopes welcomed the guests. The guest society's presidents, Mrs. John King and Mrs. Thomas Frantz spoke briefly.

The worship service in charge of Mrs. Earl Brooks included the Christmas Story acted out in pantomime by members of the Hazel Circle.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Jack Moody, wife of Rev. Moody, pastor of the Canfield Methodist Church.

Charles and Isaac Dewees and Mrs. Martha Edgerton were recent Cleveland visitors.

'Couldn't Happen' -- But They Did!

Annually the National Safety Council rounds up odd accidents that have happened throughout the country during the last year. Here, illustrated, is a quartet of the wackiest ones.

In Milwaukee, animal trainer Robert Belwirth had been teaching two baby elephants to step on and off 18-inch-high pedestals. Bierwirth blithely tried it himself, slipped and fractured one of his ankles. He thinks he heard a couple of trunkful of snickers.

When they named a tavern at Port Huron, Mich., "Dew Drop Inn" it seemed a harmless, if corny pun. But the pun backfired during a heavy wind-and-rain storm. As waves undermined the shore, the building slipped into the Anchor Bay and floated off. One drink too many!

Four-year-old Walter Adams, Jr., in his New York apartment home, was showing his kid brother acrobatic stunts he'd seen on TV. Glancing out the window he saw several small girls on the sidewalk, 40 feet below. Deciding to show them something really good, he opened the window, put his hands together like a high diver—and dove. The girls pulled him out of a big snowbank—nothing hurt but his pride.

In New Liberty, Iowa, 12-year-old David Dahl placed his rifle against a ladder in the barn and started to climb up to the hay loft. His dog, Terry, jumped on the ladder. He struck the gun's trigger with his paw and shot his ascending master just below the haystack. "Man bites dog" makes news. So does "Dog shoots boy."

Kitchen's Equipment Aided By Food Tests

IT'S GOT TO BE GOOD—Here's where the statements about food that appear in the advertisements originate. There is no guesswork when America's housewives are told what the products they buy will do. What happens when the pie goes into your oven or your freezer? These are the women who find out. They work in an advertising-agency kitchen with all types of appliances to be sure food products react properly in them.

The food picture in your favorite newspaper looks wonderful. The advertisement tells you about a new food product that you want to use. But when you take it home and put it into your refrigerator, freeze it in your freezer or cook it on your stove, what will happen?

Your kitchen equipment is different from that of the family next door, and you know that there is a wide variety of appliances, not only in your own community but across the nation.

Can you depend on what that advertisement says?

The answer is yes. The people who process national brands of food are even more appliance-conscious than you are. They want to know whether what they offer you will work in the many kinds of equipment that are found in the nation's kitchens.

Many Tests

The answer is found in test kitchens. There are many of these all over the country. Some are in colleges and universities where professors of home economics operate them. Some are in food processing plants. Others are run by manufacturers of appliances.

In the end, information from all these testing centers finds its way into the advertisement that tells you about the new food product.

Wholesaler Gives Service To Public In Aiding Stores

There's a man you may never meet. But whenever you stop to admire the beautiful streamlined appliances in a retail store, you're indirectly giving him a hearty pat on the back.

Those appliances are there because of the services he performs in getting them from the manufacturer to the retailer. And he does it in the most economical way possible, saving you money when you buy.

He's the wholesaler.

Maybe you'd like to know a little about what he does.

The wholesaler brings the appliances from the manufacturer to his warehouses. He buys in large quantities, but sells in quantities to suit the user's needs. By keeping in constant touch with his manufacturers, he is able to expedite shipments to customers, says Electrical Wholesaling.

His trained salesmen help retailers make up lists they make on-the-spot demonstrations of new devices for buyers; they help the retailer display and promote the appliances they're selling; they advise and lend a hand wherever it would help business.

The wholesaler extends credit to his customers, provides speedy handling of products and gets them to the retailers when and how they want it.

TV In Dark Room Causes Eye-Strain

Viewing television in a darkened room can cause unnecessary eye-strain and fatigue. Take a tip from lighting experts who point out that the picture of a well-focused set is not decreased in visibility with a moderate amount of lighting throughout the room.

Use floor lamps on medium and turn to low level only if shades appear brighter than screen. Place lamps so there are no bright reflections in screen and use opaque or dense fabric shades on lamps located near television set.

For additional seeing comfort, place a 15-or-25 watt bulb behind the television set.

KEEP RANGES CLEAN
Cleaning ranges regularly can extend their lifetime indefinitely. Make sure the gas burner jets are clean. The air-mixture valve must always be adjusted or you can't get the proper flame for efficient heating and cooking. Don't check it yourself, though—let an expert do it.

Freezer, Refrigerator Team Operates In Home

There are big freezer compartments in many of the refrigerators which have been sold in recent years. Meanwhile the separate home freezers have become popular. What happens to the freezer compartment in the refrigerator when the family purchases a separate freezer?

Some families may want and use both a compartment in their refrigerator and a separate home freezer, but some manufacturers have recognized that many people will not want to use both.

Refrigerators and freezers are now being offered in one unit. They have a full-size home freezer and a refrigerator without a freezing compartment to be used with existing home freezers.

Some of the larger frozen-food storage units in the latest refrigerators have been placed at the bottom rather than at the top of the unit.

The fact that some people have tried to use their storage units as freezers is noted by Mrs. Pearl Haak, authority on freezing foods at the University of Kentucky. The storage units do the job for which they were intended. But most of them are not designed as quick freezing units, she says.

When large amounts of unfrozen food are placed in them, temperatures tend to rise too high. The result is low freezing, often accompanied by discoloration of the food, softened texture and loss of food value and flavor.

She says, however, that it is possible to design a storage unit that can also be used as a quick freezer. Many manufacturers are now doing this. The dual purpose unit should have its own temperature control, Mrs. Haak says, when it is used in conjunction with a refrigerator. Otherwise the refrigerator may get too cold during the freezing process in the cold unit.

Uncolored Light Needed In Lamps

If you are buying new shades for your dresser or dressing table lamps, confine your favorite colors to the trimmings. White, near white or pastel tints will give true, uncolored light.

Lighting specialists remind you for make-up, shades should have nine and one-half-inch bottom diameters. Top diameters should be seven inches and the depth of the shade, seven inches.

Special Facilities For Eggs Storage

If you are shopping for a refrigerator, you will find special facilities for storing eggs in virtually every brand of machine.

best method. Sometimes you put them in groups. Sometimes they are elaborately protected against inadvertent blows. In other cases they are placed where you can get them most easily.

However, the salesmen will all tell you that your eggs are important.

Dish Washer Lets Mom Join In Fun With Family

Laboratory tests show that dishes washed in a mechanical washer are cleaner than those washed by hand. One public health service test showed that bacterial count was smaller on the mechanically washed dishes.

A test at Michigan State College showed that disease could be carried from one person to another by germs left on dishes. But the conclusion of the professors was that mechanical dishwashing can virtually eliminate the health hazard.

Still another test used ultra-violet light and a fluorescent dye. This method showed up particles remaining on the dishes too small to be noticed by other means. There were fewer particles on dishes that had gone through good mechanical washers than on those that had been hand-washed.

Experts say one of the big reasons for the better performances of the mechanical washers is the fact that they can operate with hotter water.

Human beings just can't put their hands into water as hot as the dishwashers use — not unless they go to the hospital afterward.

Not only does the hot water remove the dirt, especially grease, faster, it actually kills germs. It is the same action used when milk is pasteurized.

The United States Army has a rule that dishes shall not be wiped in its messes. The wiping of dishes is a fine method of spreading germs, tests show. The Army keeps its men healthier than most civilian groups and the ban against the wiping of dishes is just one of the precautions it uses.

You can dry your dishes by hand without wiping by careful use of very hot rinse water. But mechanical dishwashers do the job automatically and regulate the temperature of the water precisely.

Perhaps the health aspect of changing to mechanical washing is largely a hidden asset, however. Freedom from the boredom of dishwashing was the thing most women liked when they made the change in one survey conducted in Ohio by the National Electric Appliance Manufacturers Association.

They commented on the drudgery which they had associated with the hand job.

Associated with the drudgery was the question of lost time. When they should have been doing things for their families and for the community, that long, boring job of getting the dishes out of the way stood as a barrier to worthwhile activity.

In addition almost all of the women who took part in this survey said they felt much happier about their entertaining when they used dishwashing machines. There was no immediate need to "get the dishes out of the way" they said.

They found no difficulty in changing over to the new method. But some of them suggested that a new user of a machine should experiment a bit until she found her own individual method of handling the chore in the new way.

Every woman who took part commented on how much easier it was to keep the kitchen neat. The soiled dishes could be tucked out of sight in the dishwasher until a full load was accumulated. Most of them used their new machines only twice a day, doing breakfast and luncheon dishes in one load and doing dinner dishes separately.

Of course, they found they used far fewer tea towels and pointed out that their machine saved them the time and trouble of washing, ironing and storing the towels.

Most of them were delighted to find their children took a keen interest in the machines. The youngsters liked to help with the mechanics of the job and boasted about their prowess with the dish washer.

Paradox Is Noted In Frozen Foods

When you cook frozen food that has been thawed and use a small amount of water, cooking takes about half as long as with unthawed food.

You have run into this paradox with commercial frozen foods. But some foods need to be thawed before cooking and some do not. When you have your own freezer you cannot depend on the package directions of the commercial foods. It is wise to work with a dealer who can advise you on the handling of food.

Home Freezer Saves Money, Aids Health

With a home freezer you save time and money — and preserve your family's health.

You save time because your shopping trips are fewer and the preparation of the frozen food is quicker. Whole meals can be prepared in advance — already cooked or ready for cooking — and kept in the freezer until needed. Cakes and pies can be made on an assembly line basis and preserved for months.

And money... it's so easy to save money with a freezer. Fresh or commercially frozen food, bought in quantity when plentiful and priced low, can be stored with quality unimpaired. Leftovers can be popped into the freezer, kept for weeks, and served when the family is eager for the same dish again. Food spoilage is eliminated.

Not to overlook variety. You'll be serving your family the tastiest and most nutritious meals it ever had. All the flavor and health-giving minerals and vitamins of fresh foods will be yours with a freezer.

The homemaker who likes to put up her own fruits and vegetables will be delighted with freezing — quicker, cleaner and cooler than canning.

If you're a home gardener, you'll have your own strawberries in December — with a freezer. There are two types of freezers: chest and upright. But there are many models and sizes.

The horizontal-chest type has a lid at the top. These freezers range from 3 cubic feet to more than 20. The upright type has a front opening door, and resembles outwardly the regular household refrigerator.

Freezers work on the same principle as electric refrigerators. A motor operates a freezing unit which constantly maintains an extremely low temperature in a thickly insulated cabinet.

Taking an inventory of your frozen foods regularly helps you plan more efficiently.

GIFT IDEA

Shopping for a gift idea for a college student? Choose a rugged hard-glass ruby-red heat lamp in a convenient portable holder. In addition to soothing muscular aches and pains this quick source of infra-red heat will serve as a chill-chaser on cold mornings or during late evening study sessions.

RANGE-TOP ARRANGEMENT

Did you know the homemaker can choose the kind of arrangement she wants for top of range cooking? She has a choice of clustered, staggered, divided or all-in-a-row arrangements. The divided top — with a work space in the center between two units on either side — is the favorite of women across the nation.

AVOID FREEZER BURN

The dry cold of the freezer draws out the moisture from poorly wrapped foods. In fruit and vegetables color and flavor change. In meat and poultry this dehydration is called "freezer burn." Beef, for example, that is not properly wrapped, is cocoa-colored, dried out, often with rancid fat instead of being red, juicy and full-flavored.

Salem Quakers Face Strong Struthers Quintet Tonight

Locals Seek Second Victory

Tom Steele Scoring Heavily For Wildcats

By CARL NADRASY

Coach John Cabas' Salem Quakers will be seeking their second victory in as many starts in the young season tonight when they travel to Struthers High School to take on the power-packed Wildcats.

The varsity game, following the reserve tilt at 6:45 p.m., will be somewhat of a grudge game for the locals since the last time the two squads met Salem was dumped 63-58 in the third game of tournament play during the 1953-54 season.

The Quakers, however, will have nothing to get mad about when it comes to looking at the overall record of the two teams down through the years. Since the 1932-33 season, the hometowners have amassed 16 wins to five for Struthers in 21 regular season and tourney tilts.

Before the loss in the 1954 tournament, the locals had won eleven straight from the Wildcats. The two teams were not scheduled last year.

STRUTHERS Head Coach George Kerlek, in his third year at Struthers with a 27-15 record so far, will be sending a tall, talented starting quintet against the Quakers tonight.

Five seniors, all lettermen and averaging six feet-two and one-half inches in height, will make up Coach Kerlek's starting five.

At the forward posts will be Harold Ondra and Tom Steele, both 6-2. Ondra, who has starred for Struthers during the past two years with his left-handed set shot, has been having trouble scoring in the first two Wildcat tilts, but could break loose at any time.

Steele has been the big gun in the Struthers' attack in the two losses the Wildcats have suffered at the hands of Sharon 47-53 and New Castle 52-54, in a double overtime. In the opening two trays, Steele has averaged 22½ points, getting 24 against Sharon and 21 opposing New Castle.

OTHER POSITIONS on the opening Wildcat lineup will be filled by center Bob Nuge, 6-5, who played right end on the school's grid team; guard Charles Costello, 6-4; and guard Bob McCollum, 5-11, who played quarterback on this year's Struthers football team.

In addition to a starting lineup of five lettermen, Coach Kerlek has a strong bench made up of three more lettermen who saw much action last year and who are ready to fill in at any time.

Officials for tonight's tilts will be Clyde Hall of Masury, referee, and Don Miller of Youngstown, umpire. The Salem Jay-Vee squad under assistant varsity coach Karl Zellers will see their first competitive action this year with their initial encounter of season against the Struthers Reserves to begin at 6:45 p.m.

According to Salem Athletic Director Fred Cope, there are no reserve seats for tonight's fray, with tickets available at the door at a cost of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Team Gets No Halftime Rest, Wins In 2nd Half

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha University coach Jack Cotton was peeved Monday night when his basketball team trailed South Dakota by a 30 to 22 score at halftime.

So the Indians got no halftime rest and no pep talk. Cotton kept them on the floor and had them shooting at the free throw line all the rest period.

It paid off. The players hit 14 of 18 gift tosses in the second half and outscored the opposition in the field with accuracy, winning 52-53.

Dons Voted No. 1, Carolina State 2nd

By The Associated Press

The University of San Francisco Dons head eastward Wednesday rated the nation's No. 1 college basketball team.

In the first regular season poll of The Associated Press, San Francisco grabbed 60 first-place ballots and on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., rolled up 910 points.

A total of 100 sports writers and sportscasters turned in ballots, and although North Carolina State received only four firsts, the Wolf pack got heavy support to take over second place with 640 points. N. C. State displaced Kentucky, second in the preseason balloting.

Kentucky, which was defeated by Temple Saturday 73-61, skidded from second to No. 12, while Temple moved into the No. 11 spot.

San Francisco, easy winner of three straight, and boasting a victory string of 29 games in a row, won the NCAA championship last season, and was voted the nation's No. 1 college team. The Dons fly to Chicago Wednesday and meet unbeaten Marquette Friday in the DePaul Invitation Tournament. Duquesne, No. 6 in this week's poll, plays DePaul Friday. The two winners meet for the championship Saturday.

Utah, winner of two games from Arizona, moved from fifth in the preseason calculations to third place this week.

Alabama is fifth, followed by Duquesne, Dayton, Brigham Young, Vanderbilt and Holy Cross.

Charley Trippi Retires, Named Assistant Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—Former All-America halfback Charley Trippi, 33, Chicago Cardinal star for nine years, retired as an active player Monday and was named an assistant coach.

Trippi, one of Georgia's all-time football greats, gained 3,510 yards from scrimmage and scored 37 touchdowns to set two Cardinal records during his career.

Trippi also will serve as talent scout.

Northwestern, Eagles Fire Saban, Trimble As Coaches

By The Associated Press

Northwestern University and the Philadelphia Eagles were shopping around today for head football coaches after a fresh round of hiring and firing in both college and professional ranks.

Getting the ax at Northwestern was Lou Saban, along with four assistants, while the pro Eagles handed walking papers to Jim Trimble and three aides. Kenneth (Jack) Mollenkopf, Purdue line coach, was promoted to head coach.

At the same time Maryland's Jim Tatum said reports that he would leave College Park were getting to be a "damned joke."

Stu Holcomb, who left his job four days ago as Purdue University head coach to become athletic director at Northwestern, fired Saban, 34, on the first day in his new

Browns, Redskins Place 7 Each on All-Star Team

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The champion Cleveland Browns and runner-up Washington Redskins dominated the eastern conference all-star team which will meet the best of the West in the sixth annual pro-bowl football game here Jan. 15.

The eastern squad, announced today by game director Paul J. Schissler, includes seven players each from the Browns and Redskins, five New York Giants and four each from the Philadelphia Eagles, Chicago Cards and Pittsburgh Steelers.

The western squad will be announced Thursday. The West holds a 3-2 edge in the series.

Three players, end Pete Pihos of Philadelphia, tackle Lou Groza of Cleveland, and defensive back Emilen Tunnell of New York, made the pro bowl for the sixth straight year. The East squad won last year.

The East team: Offense: Ends, Darrell Brewster, Browns, and Pihos, Eagles; tackles Groza, Browns, and Roosevelt Brown, Browns; guards, Abe Gibrin, Browns, and Jack Stroud, Giants; center, Harry Ulski, Redskins; quarterback, Eddie Lebaron, Redskins; halfbacks, Ollie Matson, Cards, and Frank Gifford, Giants; and fullback, Fred Morrison, Browns.

Defense: Ends, Carlton Massey, Browns, and Gene Brito, Redskins; tackles, Don Colo, Browns, and Volney Peiers, Redskins; guard, Dale Dodrill, Steelers; linebackers, Laverne Torgerson, Redskins; Wayne Robinson, Eagles, and Fred Wallner, Cards; halfbacks, Jack Butler, Steelers, and Dick (Night Train) Lane, Cards; and safety, ers in the first period, more than their opponents tallied in the entire game. The scoring went: 19-2; 4-2; 8-0 and 21-8.

Ohio State Only Big 10 Team To Win

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

What's happened to the Big Ten basketball team?

The conference has only one undefeated school left in the pack today, a mere 13 days after the start of the college season.

And that unscarred team is Michigan State, which hasn't even played yet. The Spartans get under way tonight against Southern Illinois.

Ohio State, alone, did its share for the Big Ten reputation Monday night, knocking off Oklahoma 89-68. The Buckeyes are 3-1 on the year. The rest was chaos.

Iowa, the nation's fourth-ranked team, and highly touted Indiana dropped from the unbeaten ranks and Wisconsin lost its third game.

The Hawkeyes, defending league champs, were tripped up by Colorado 60-57. Indiana was set back by St. Louis 86-75 while Wisconsin bowed to Southern Methodist 75-62.

In other games Monday night, Kentucky started the long road back by edging DePaul 71-69. Rice, a Southwest Conference titan, rode to its sixth straight victory, 85-60 over Louisiana State. Wake Forest whipped Virginia 82-69 in an Atlantic Coast Conference get-together.

Robin Freeman, as usual, ran off with the scoring honors in Ohio State's one-sided victory over Oklahoma. The All America guard hit for 40 points to bring his four-game average for the season to 36.8 points.
